

THE MURDER OF LEE TEPP.

Further Testimony Against Young Corcoran

—His Identification.

At the trial, in the General Sessions yesterday, of John Corcoran of 44 Marion street, upon the charge of killing Lee Tepp on the evening of the 24th of April last, there was an incident which, though the first time it has ever been held in this city, the defense claims is deeply interested in it, and is said to have raised $200 to secure the services of the lawyer and the special Chinese interpreter who sit beside the prosecutor, Assistant District Attorney Beecher, and preside at the sessions.

Policeman James J. Hart of the Mulberry street station, who was on duty at the time of the shooting, identified Lee Tepp. On the evening of the 25th of April he took the two Chinamen who were with Lee Tepp on the evening of the 24th of April to Spring street, and told them to look for Lee Tepp's assailant.

"Point out the Chinaman who went with you?" Mr. Beecher said, with a wave of his hand toward the rows of chief Chinamen, looking like tall tamarisks each other, a policeman gazed blankly for a moment at the puzzle array.

"I've seen them there," he said, "but I can't tell you which one."

"Well, one of them was an Am, and the other was a King."

The Chinamen walked away, slowly down Spring street.

Policeman Hart continued, "until they were opposite a shop near Crosby street. A number of young men were still in the shop. One of them, a King, I saw him walk past the young men. I was on the opposite side of the street. As the Chinamen looked, Corcoran sprang from his chair, and, as he did so, I heard a shot. He always has two exits at the rear, and I conjectured, stopped for an instant at the entrance to the shop, and Corcoran came out." Are these any Chinamen here?" he asked. "I saw two men, one in an Am, and one in a King, go out."

A second Chinaman, who said that he was away from home, and had just come back, was seated in their chimney. Ah Sin and King had positively identified the Chinaman who had been shot.
